STAR ACTORS IN THE HALL-MILLS MURDER DRAMA AS STAGED IN THE COURTROOM AT SOMERVILLE, N. J.

Detective Capt. HARRY HALSH

CHARLOTTE MILLS

JAMES MILLS

CHARLOTTE MILLS

MRS. JANE GIBSON

The 'Big Woman'

HENRY CARPENDER

WILLIE STEVENS

RELATIVES OF SLAIN WOMAN
Husband and daughter of Mrs. Mills, child singer, listened attentively to testimony of how and where the bodies were found.

"MOTHER SAID SHE WAS POISONED"
Charlotte Mills startled the crowded court by declaring that her mother expected to die, and that she had been given poison in tea at Mrs. Hall's house.

"THAT IS THE MAN I SAW"
Mrs. Gibson, called the "big woman," created the most dramatic scene of the hearing when she pointed directly to Carpenders, stating he was the man at the murder scene.

TWO SUSPECTS IN COURT
Carpenders, wealthy broker, and Willie Stevens, brother of Mrs. Hall, are held charged with slaying Dr. Hall and "soul mate." (Photos by I.N.R.)

AUTOIST DIES 102 LEAVE HUB ON DEVONIAN

The automobile was on its way to Newton when it was involved in the latter's story to the Metropolitan Police. They drove past Monument street, instead of turning from the parkway at that point as intended, and so Higgins applied the brakes and tried to turn back. The car skidded and slid into the stream.

While McGlynn was trying to get help, Pauline Higgins saw the headlights in the river and fired six shots.

Lieutenant Clinton Powers and Laurelin of Watertown responded to a police car, and Dr. Robert Kelley, a naval surgeon living in Watertown, was brought to the scene.

Meanwhile Williams volunteered to dive for the body and after several tries managed to extricate it with the police helping by tilting the car. The body was found.

Eight From Hub Hurt in Worcester Auto Crash

Worcester, Aug. 14.—Eight Great Boston residents were injured five of them seriously, today when two automobiles crashed head-on in a highway street.

Severely injured and taken to the City Hospital were: George Hignett, thirty-five; his wife and six-year-old son, Charles, of 12 Mayfield avenue, Medford; William Clements, forty-two, of 141 Madison street, Medford; and Mrs. Mary Jacob, thirty-seven, of 141 Madison street, Dorchester; his wife.

The stream of motor traffic stopped for half an hour by the collision which occurred at a point where both roads were crowded. The car was badly damaged and the driver was killed.

Garvey Field House Model For Six More

The Garvey Playground Field House, Newport avenue, has been accepted by the Park Department as the model on which at least six more field houses will be constructed within two years.

After long study, the type of structure was recommended by Park Department officials as the most satisfactory and enduring. It has been completed at a cost of $12,715. With separate quarters for boys and girls, the main hall and the canteen, the building is expected to meet the demands of modern recreation activities.

Lieut. Norton Safely Lands at Parents' Home

Chesterfield, N. Y., Aug. 14 (A.P.)—Lieutenant H. J. Norton, attached to the 10th Cavalry, was safely landed by airplane at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Norton, in the town of Albion, near Oakfield, after an uneventful flight from Washington.

He was accompanied by John DeWitt of Albany, a private in the Marine Corps. They will probably start their return trip tomorrow.

Run Boat at Auction

A good many boats for customs officials at $1,000 and an auto truck, valued at $1,000, are among craft and more to be auctioned Tuesday at the Army Base, South Boston. They were seized for dry law violations.

DOUST TROTZYK 'MOUTHPIECE'

Moscow, Aug. 14 (A.P.)—The Communist Party has expelled Jacob Gansovsky, described as the "mouthpiece of Trotskyism," for expressing the view that it is impossible to preserve the dictatorship of the proletariat and that other parties should be legalized and that the all-Union Communist Party must cease dominating the Communist International.

N.E. OIL CASE TO BE HASTENED

Judge Julian Mack of New York today took charge of the two-year-old $100,000 New England Oil case in Federal Court, immediately informed counsel for both sides that the trial was to proceed with all possible speed, and set the opening day as September 13.

Mack dismissed a petition for the trial of the issue by jury, stating that all issues would be heard by him and indicated that it was his desire to clean up the case before the end of September.

The case heard before Judge George W. Anderson has consumed eighty-three court days, to date, involving litigation between stockholders relative to the reorganization of the company.

Andrews Had a 'Taste' of Rum Abroad Ship

Washington, Aug. 14 (A.P.)—General Lincoln C. Andrews, chief of the prohibition forces, disclosed today that he had perhaps gotten a little taste of liquor on his trip from London in the form of rum.

"I think the captain of our vessel on the return trip permitted some rum cakes soaked in rum to be served me," General Andrews said, "and I also tasted some rum sherry which apparently had some champagne in it. But I told the captain it was all right, for I had to eat."

KELLOGG GOES STRAIGHT TO COOLIDGE HALL MURDER

Washington, Aug. 14 (U.S.A.)—Secretary of State Kellogg was en route today to visit President Coolidge at the Summer White House at White Pine, N. Y., with a mass of documents on the Mexican situation.

Despite the appeal of the Knights of Columbus for intervention in Mexico, Department officials disclosed today that there will be no change in the American government's policy of hands-off the Mexican religious controversy.

It is understood Kellogg told James J. Flaherty, supreme knight, that the matter was one of Mexico alone to adjust, but that America will protect fully all rights of Americans who may be endangered.

WOMAN BATHER RESCUED IN OLD ORCHARD FOG

Old Orchard, Me., Aug. 14 (A.P.)—In the water up to her waist and surrounded by a fog so thick she could not see ten feet ahead of her, an unidentified woman was rescued from the surf today. Attention of the life guard was first attracted by calls for help coming from some indefinite place along the beach.

When the woman was rescued she said the fog was so thick she had lost her sense of direction and did not know whether she was walking toward shore or out to sea.

She picked Carpenders as the man who stood beneath the ancient crabapple tree and gave a "greeting" object a moment before the shore was found that killed Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills on the night of August 14. She placed her hand on the weathered wall of the old building and in identifying him.

In the same manner she identified Willie Stevens as the bush-haired negro, who she first saw leave a negro, who stood beneath the tree and gave a "greeting" object a moment before the shore was found that killed Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills on the night of August 14. She placed her hand on the weathered wall of the old building and in identifying him.

The body was sent to Rutland immediately. Mr. Coolidge was the son of Lorenzo G. Coolidge of Plymouth, Vt., the President's birthplace.

ESCAPED IN SPEED BOAT

Escape of the two bogus guests is believed to have been made in a speed boat, while others of the gang departed in an automobile. The most valuable jewels, it is believed, were taken away in the speed boat.

A stout blond of round face, sitting over a thirty-foot cliff in the rear of Mrs. Ogden Gould's estate, not more than 100 feet from "The Breakers," threatened the theory that two evening attendants were speed boat men cruising off the coast.

KENNEDY IS AT THE HEIGHTS HOSPITAL ON A CASE OF A DEMEROL OVERDOSE. REPEATS, 'SHE'S AFIRE! HE'S SHINE!' WHEN HE IS CALLED BY DEPUTY O'CONNOR TO THE NOVELLA BEAUTY SHOP, RUN BY PROFESSOR AND MADAME PILLEUR, BLANCHE CLAUDE, THE ACTRESS, HAS BEEN FOUND DEAD. AN UNIDENTIFIED SURVIVOR COLLINS, THE LAWYER, IS FOUND KENNEDY DISCOVERS TRACES OF OIL ON TURPENTINE ON THE DRESSER. COVER-LIGHTS OUT, THE TONGUE AND THROAT OF THE ACTRESS SHOWS GLOWING LITTLE SPOTS! ALSO ON THE GUMMED FLAP OF THE ENVELOPE OF THE NOTE ARE GLOWING SPOTS. ANOTHER NOTE FROM COLLINS IS FOUND. ALSO BOTTLES OF PHOSPHORATED BEER AND OIL OF TURPENTINE. COLLINS APPEARS.

"Scandal"

By Arthur B. Reeve

MR. COLLINS, I HAVE THE NOTE YOU WROTE MISS BLAISDELL THIS MORNING—AND HER REPLY TO YOU THAT WAS NEVER SENT!

IT WAS FOUND IN THE SCRAP BASKET.

IF YOU DID NOT WRITE THAT NOTE, COLLINS, PERHAPS YOU WOULD BE SO KIND AS TO COPY IT, AS A MATTER OF COMPARISON.

IT WILL BE ALL RIGHT. YOU HAVE PLenty OF WITNESSES THAT I WILL ONLY A COPY.

I'M SORRY YOU CAN'T TAKE MY WORD, BUT HERE GOES. I'LL COPY THIS TORN NOTE YOU SAY YOU FOUND.

IT WAS A BIG PARTY LAST NIGHT AND YOU THINK SUE CAMPBELL TO STRAIGHTEN OUT?

AND YOU'LL KEEP MY NAME OUT OF THIS SCANDAL, KENNEDY?

I'LL DO WHAT I CAN, COLLINS, BUT I CAN'T CHANGE FACTS!

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN HOME BUILDER BUREAU

A Six Room Early Type Colonial House

Rapidly Nearing Completion

THE CONCORD

THE Concord, as its name implies, is perceptively New England Colonial in spirit. The picturesque overhanging second story is true to type. It not only adds a refreshing uniqueness to the more conventional examples of Colonial which we usually build, but adds appreciably to the size of the two front bedrooms of this house.

The old fashioned batten shutters with pine tree cut-outs, the neat colored lantern over the dignified front entrance and the quaint iron railings make this house pleasingly distinctive.

Upon entering the vestibule the first impression gained is that of the interesting arrangement of details of the large, cheerful living room beyond. At the farther end of the room is its inviting tapestry brick fireplace and door leading to the porch. At the rear end of the room is the open staircase, opposite which is a bright spacious coat closet.

The conveniently arranged dining room has three windows and the kitchen has two windows. In the kitchen we find a built-in ironing board and all the conveniences of the modern kitchen.

The bedrooms on the second floor are cheerfully arranged. The bath room is conveniently placed with respect to the sleeping rooms.

This house, constructed of the highest grade materials, can be built for $2200.00-$2700.00.

SHORTAGE OF HOUSES BIG KEENE PROBLEM

By GLENROY W. SCOTT

"No houses for rent!" has become a common saying on the streets of Keene, N. H., in spite of the fact that 181 building permits were issued from City Hall during the first six months of 1926, 105 of which were for buildings of residential type.

When a man comes to town to take a position and is not ready to buy a house, he usually has to go to a boarding house and watch for a house to be vacated.

There is, however, every indication that building activity during the year 1926 will more than double that of 1925 when 85 houses were constructed, which it is hoped will relieve the situation. The remaining 76 permits were for garages and smaller buildings.

AN OLD COMMUNITY. Keene is not only a prosperous city, it is a substantial city. A nucleus of its principal institutions have been established more than a century. For more than a generation it has been known as a wealthy city.

Edward Everett Hall, pre-eminent in American history as a leader, used to point to Keene, N. H., as a typical American city. Its history, Keene is a country seat and is the trading and banking center for the surrounding country.

Keene also has its educational and historical atmosphere. It is the largest Normal School in New England to which a $250,000 dormitory has just been added.

OUTLETS MAKE WORK EASY

By W. C. HOLLAND

Holland Electric Construction Co.

The electric outlet in the home provides the housewife with her greatest release from unnecessary labor, and the greater the number of outlets, the greater the ease and convenience in housework.

Numerous well placed outlets make it easy to connect up any one of the dozens of more appliances which are the efficient silent servants of the home electrical system.

In planning the electrical system and the outlets for the home, the home builder will be well repaid for the use of a little foresight and vision.

Each room should be laid out electrically with pencil and paper long before the construction starts. All of these are on the west side of the square. On the east side of this busy center, at the corner of the square, is the Keene National Bank, one of the strongest financial institutions in New England.

The building of the Ashuelot National Bank has been bought by the Keene Savings Bank and a handsome home having erected all of these on the west side of the square. SUCCESS DUE FREE SERVICE TO SERVICE FOR YEAR

Among the lines of fine wall paper sold by Morency and Corbett Company, 160 North Main Street, Concord, New Hampshire, are imported wall coverings such as Lloyd's, Graves, Gifford's, Brabant's, Beaumont's and Brabant's and Beaumont's. The Niagara line is also stocked with special emphasis placed on Niagara Blue.

The Concord firm has progressed rapidly on the policy of carrying the best and giving service. It employs more than a score of paperhangers and painters. It carries the largest stock of wall coverings in the New Hampshire capital.

Morency and Corbett have had success also in mortgaging to business their good and reliable attention with fine results.

These two men have built up a flourishing business in a few years. Attractive windows are a feature of their store and their seasonal window displays draw visitors and observers from all sections of the community.

WILL BEGIN WORK ON CAMBRIDGE HOTEL

Construction of the $1,600,000 hotel for Harvard square will start immediately, announced John S. Blinn, sponsor of the hotel, following its decision by the Board of Trustees of the Harvard Board of Trustees, which was deliberating on the hotel case.

THE NEW BARN

With its sanitary milking room, running water, electricity, main building in the farm factory, Glenroy W. Scott, Keene, N. H., contractor, has just completed this fine farm building on the outskirts of the community.

Talk about range in art! Gloria Swanson, more or less famed for her most natural interpretation of an untamed lady in a film similarly named, will resume the screen at the Metropolitan as the heroine of a story called "Fine Manners." One extreme of the other for the glittering Gloria.

GETTING THEIR HEADS TOGETHER. Ke Maynard and "Tarzan" plan new plots to foil the scheme in "Senor Darcdevil" (Olympia). Later the duo will roar, the cayuses will cayute, and then for the thrills of the celluloid West!

BLOOD WILL TELL. But whatever it is that the gore-stained end of Gareth Hughes is able to communicate to the suffering screen other, Lacy Beaumont, she seems sure that there's been a shot in the dark in "Men of the Night" at the Fenway. What, me lads! Dirty work at the crossroads!

SAN CARLO TO OPEN SEASON IN BOSTON

Announcement has been made by Fortune Cello, Impresario of the San Carlo Grand Opera Company, that his organization will present its annual two weeks season this year at the Boston Opera House, beginning Monday evening, October 11, and closing Saturday.

day evening, October 23. The season will be comprised of sixteen performances, and special ballet divertissements by the new San Carlo Grand Opera Ballet, which will make its first appearance in this country this season.

The Boston engagement is unusual in that it brings to the public here three native New England artists, and five now Italian importations making their American debut with the San Carlo this season. One artist, Lucretia Goddard, (Bush) is a native Boston girl, while Rose des Rosiers in the Holyoke soprano whose work abroad astonished the European critics. The third New England artist is Clara Jacobo, former Lawrence mill worker who has risen to operatic heights several years ago.

headed by the Russian artists Moria Yurleva and Vechaslav Svoboda, from the Moscow Art Theatre. The ballet will appear either during each opera, or in special diversissements at the conclusion of those operas which do not permit the inclusion of ballet presentation during the same itself.

Phase 'What Price Glory' a Sneer, Not a Query

Anderson's great war play "What Price Glory" ought not to be followed by a question "mark," says Captain Victor McLaglen, in the Broadway

Englishman who plays the part of Captain Blagg in the film version of the play which is being produced at Fox Hills, Hollywood.

"What Price Glory," is a specimen of a certain kind of British slang which is concerned with phrases rather than with individual words. "What price" is used by the Cockney," says McLaglen, "not as a question but as a sneer. He says 'What price glory,' 'What price happiness' or 'What price' anything."

NY TRAIN CRASH PROBED; 6 DEAD

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 14 (I.N.S.)—An official inquiry was under way today on the wreck of the speeding "millionaire special," on the Long Island Railroad at Calverton, five miles east of here, resulting in six known deaths and injuries to more than 60 others of the 700 passengers.

Assistant District Attorney Alexander Blum, of Suffolk County said he believed a defective switch had caused the derailment.

Troops from Camp Upton were Three persons are missing.

The train, making up time lost, due to disorganization of schedules by the storm, had picked up the cars of another train, and was hauled by two locomotives.

As they reached Calverton, at tremendous speed, both locomotives leaped high in the air and toppled over beside the rails.

Both fireman and engineer of the first locomotive, two men passengers and two children were killed.

SEES SOFT COAL PRICE INCREASE

An increase in the price of bituminous coal in Boston, as a direct result of the war and still unsettled English coal strike, was predicted today by W. A. Clark, president of the Boston Coal Exchange. Clark says that the price of coal in England, which has been about $1.50 a ton, is now $2.00 a ton. Clark says that the price of coal in the American market with heavy orders for the summer season, is now $1.75 a ton. "Within the short period of a week the price at Hampton Roads, Va., the outlet of the bituminous field and the primary source for Boston coal dealers, has advanced a full dollar a ton. Production and storage capacities are limited and are being taxed by the sudden foreign demand."

FLORISTS WILL HONOR O'KEEFE

Major P. F. O'Keefe, president of the Advertising Club of Boston and originator of the famous slogan, "Buy It With Flowers," left Boston today for New Orleans, where he will be presented with a gold medal at the convention of the Society of American Florists. The board of directors of the society, which is held at the Hotel New Orleans, has decided to honor Major O'Keefe in recognition of his services to the advertising industry. The medal will be presented at a dinner at the Southern Hotel Club on Lake Pontchartrain. He will also be honored as the guest of the city of New Orleans and the florists. Arthur J. O'Keefe, Mayor of New Orleans, will also be present. Approximately 1,500 florists from all parts of the country will attend the convention.

ORCHESTRA LEADER GIVEN CHAIR AS WOMAN SLAYER

Canden, N. J., Aug. 14 (AP).—Famous and with his parent, relative, his brother, living in Germany, and W. F. Furey, former leader of the Camden Philharmonic Orchestra, was taken to State Prison at Trenton today to be electrocuted there this week of September 20 for the murder of Mrs. Harriet Victoria Furey, whose trial lasted two and a half days, was found guilty by a jury of first degree murder. The jury was out a little more than an hour. The crime was committed June 29 when Furey shot Mrs. Victoria, mother of two children, during a quarrel in his apartment.

SALADINO EXONERATED IN CHELSEA COURT

Frank Saladino of No. 149 Washington avenue, Chelsea, accused by Mrs. Mildred Nickerson of Beverly with having attacked her, was found not guilty and discharged in Chelsea court when the woman charged her. Mrs. Nickerson told the court that she and her husband, and that Saladino was not the man.

SUMMER'S SETTING SUN STRIKES STURDY SPORTSMEN

SWIMMING SHEIK. There's no offense meant by that either. Dick Howell, Chicago aquatic wonder, has collected so many votes in the Hearst Popularity Contest that he outranks most sheiks that we know of in that respect.

BISCAYNE BABY. In other words, a 40-mile-an-hour speed boat, driven by Bob Purdy, preparing for the Gold Cup Regatta at Port Washington, L. I. These boats can turn on a dime.

B. S. A. BATHING BEAUTY. Esther Morrison of the Boston Swimming Association is a bathing beauty who actually swims. She placed second to Helen Mesny in the Nationals at Philadelphia, and won the dive from her in a meet at Brookline last winter.

HEAVY HITTING HARGRAVE. Catcher of the Cincinnati club leads the National League sluggers. This success came after the backstop had tolled for twelve years as only a mediocre player. His hitting this season has been consistently sensational.

ANOTHER COUNTRY HEARD FROM. This is Hilda Koppe of Austria, the latest girl athlete to step into the limelight. She broke the shotput record with a toss of nearly 30 feet.

CANADIAN CHAMP. Macdonald Smith of New York, who won the Canadian open golf tourney at Montreal, shooting a 283. L. to r., Farrell, Turnesa, Smith, Murray and Diegel.

RED CHAPMAN, feather-weight boxer, who meets Honeyboy Finnegan at Braves Field August 24. Chapman has lost his lead in the Titleholder Contest to Sammy Fuller.

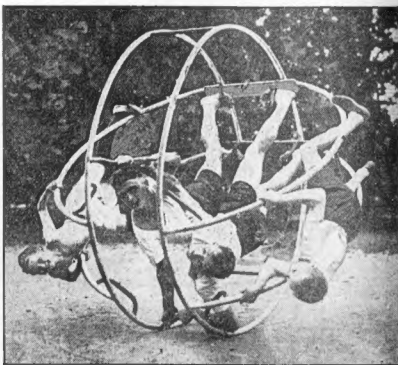

ANOTHER WORLD'S RECORD fell when Lionel Barcoson piloted the hydroplane General at 43.06 miles per hour in the annual regatta of the So. California Yacht-Ing Association.

TUNNEY STUDIES TUNNEY'S TECHNIQUE through the new process camera invented by Alvin V. Knechtel, who is seen on the left. Through the magic of this contrivance Gene is able to watch his miniature self go through the paces of training. These scenes are being shown movie audiences and fans will have a great opportunity to study the fighting marine's technique. To say nothing of Gene's studying himself. (Photo by Pathe.)

MEDBURY SAYS---

MEDICAL statistics show that there are over ten thousand somnambulists in the United States. Somnambulists are people who take their walks after they go to bed.

ONE guy used to walk so much in his sleep that he always slept with a road map under his pillow.

THE traffic was light but his bed-room was full of detours.

HE could generally tell how far he walked at night. He used a corn plaster for a speedometer.

EVERY busman was a milestone. His folks tried to cure him of walking in his sleep by putting him to bed on a bicycle.

BUT the pedals kicked his feet and his laughing kept the family awake.

HE finally had to leave home and rent a room in a taxiway.

IT'S pitiful when a man has to pay his landlord by the mile.

HE should have broken his lease with the chauffeur and moved into a street car.

A DORCHESTER fellow used to walk in his sleep so much that he was to a chiroprapist and have them vulcanized.

SHE put concrete rugs in the dining room.

IN winter when he walked up and down in front of the house she made him wear sled chains on his bedroom slippers.

HE was a fast walker. He'd go to sleep in Dorchester and wake up in Arizona.

HIS feet have traveled ten thousand miles without a puncture.

BUT next year he's going to take them to a chiroprapist and have them vulcanized.

IT'S too bad that nature didn't equip somnambulists with balloon feet and demountable ankles.

A BARE foot would be a great help to these bedroom journeymen.

SOMNAMBULISM is a disease and the only people who could possibly be benefited by sleep walking are night watchmen and letter carriers.

POLLY'S NO PIKER

By Louise Armstrong

"No, thanks, mother," Polly replied. "I've had my vacation, guess I'll stick it out at the bond house—until I find something else."

"Good girl," approved her father. "Know you wouldn't be a piker?"

"Well, well," exclaimed Brigham, "how is Miss Briggins, this lovely morning?"

"Polly smiled politely as she stepped away from him. Thank you, yes, I had a nice day." Her manner said plainly, "Keep away!" But Mr. Brigham moved closer, beamed in a fatherly manner, and patted her head.

"Are you ready to give me some mail?" asked Polly rigidly.

"Not a thing yet, not a thing," murmured Mrs. Brigham. "Just sit down a moment. You've crowded yourself this morning."

Polly began to busy herself with the files. Was this meeting men on an equal footing, being judged according to her ability? In the social world she could snub a flirtatious married man, but she couldn't very well snub her boss over so trivial a thing as a piker.

Writing for her morning's dictation, if you please, Miss Wentworth," William Travers, junior partner of the firm, was saying. "My secretary is leaving to be married soon."

"How long have you been here, Miss Wentworth?" he asked politely.

"Eight months, sir," she replied. He looked at her critically. "If you can keep up today's standard," he said, "you'd make an excellent assistant for me."

"I can keep it up," Polly insisted. "You're very nice, indeed, to give me this chance, Mr. Travers."

"She was smiling, indeed, at the sudden turn things had taken. The 'girl' was speaking again. His eyes twinkled merrily.

"Do you know why you have been selected as my secretary, Miss Polly?" he asked. Before she could reply he was explained.

"We want to make sure that the young man we set into the inner sanctum of our office is a man of the highest character. Don't Judge Brigham too severely for his conduct."

"I don't understand, Mr. Travers," said the girl sternly.

"Well," he continued, "to some proud of his list."

THE MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE--By HELEN ROWLAND

ACCORDING to Mr. H. G. Wells, a woman is of no particular use on this earth--to any man.

Lots of men, he admits, may have committed crimes and follies in order to win the woman of their fancy, but no man has ever done anything fine or great or brilliant or beautiful because of any woman's inspiration. Woman has over-rated her lacking her security.

Somewhat should give Mr. Wells

a dose of H. G. Wells. Evidently, he has a bad touch of liver, and, in true manly fashion, is taking it out on the women. THAT is one of woman's greatest uses on this earth--to blame things on!

Just a few moments' study of an anthropology would prove to Mr. Wells that woman is one of the most important races in the world. Ever since the first cavemen fought and won a good fight or worked out a way to give his head feathers red, or created a particularly beautiful he wants. In order to have his CHOICE among women! This is a universal instinct, which he can no more eradicate than he can his hunger for food, or his joy in a fight.

Woman be thank audience--his cheer-leader!

Adam would never have eaten the apple, except to prove to Eve that he wasn't afraid.

Noah would probably have climbed a mountain or a tree, and let his flood rush by, if the ladies hadn't demoralized an ark.

he wants to wear himself "in all his glory." If there had been no woman around to admire him.

Solomon was probably the wisest ruler, the greatest poet, and the richest man who ever lived. But LOOK at the woman he had to inspire him!

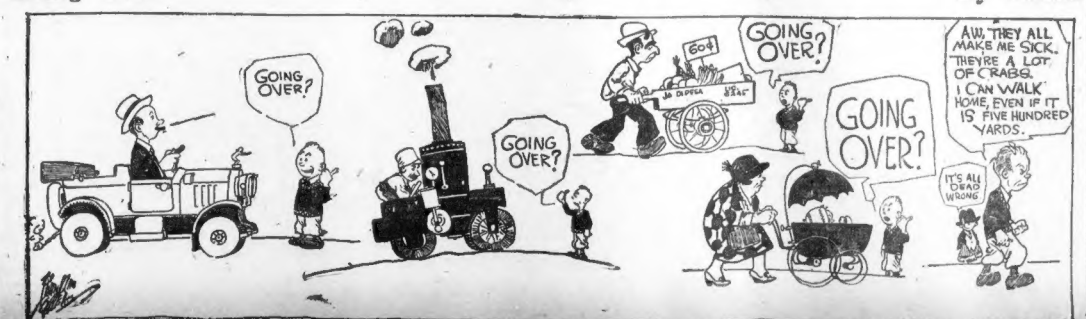

No male poet was ever able to work up enough enthusiasm over another man to write a wonderful poem as the Song of Songs about him!

Most of the great fortunes made by men have been founded right on some petish woman's desire for a new tailor suit, or another motor car.

No man can enjoy anything base, sordid or vile or thrilling, without a woman to help him.

We need each other, Mr. Wells--and the Lord didn't make such a terrible mistake, when he extracted that rib!
